Biography:

Italian tech wizard Ramzi Bougammoura aka Ramsi works his magic touch from his studio in Milan and has amassed bags of talent in his 28 years.

His relationship with music began in his early years of adolescence, his passion for electronic music started and elevated rapidly. He plays with sounds using his unique type of creativity which is evident in his production. There are clear techno roots in his sound but with exotic sonority of House music that characterizes him well.

The connection between music and the world of technology led him to experiment with sounds and he quickly realized that sound will be his main interest and activity in life. With this he gained a degree in Audio Engineering at SAE Institute in Milan. By this time we are in 2006 and he was playing in the main clubs in the city. He founded the group "Owner Sound" (2006-2010) and the duo project "One Million Circuits" (2010-2014) while continuing to pursue solo projects with "Ramsi", achieving the likes of international Djs as well as plenty radio and press coverage locally.

From 2011 he was producing hundreds of tracks which led to many releases on main music platforms.

2016 opened another window on the international electronic music scene with "Electronic Algorhythym Poetry" and the summer season saw him to play in Ibiza for the showcase of the 2nd birthday of Recovery Collective, Ramsi is also booked to play in Amsterdam at ADE with Theatre Records in "A Night In a Theatre".

His tracks and remixes are released on Digital:Groove Records, Ampispazi Recordings, Natural Rhythm, Recovery Collective, Theatre Records, Syntheke Records with his alias Ramsi and on Stripped Digital and Lovejet Records with the duo alias One Million Circuits (formed with COA).

Nowadays, Ramsi is working as an Audio Engineer and Sound Designer for many labels and projects, as a trainer of Ableton Live and Music Production at The Academy of Sound (Milan) and of course, he is still creating tracks that continue to move dance floors worldwide
